"My little boy is sick five weeks old and as I cannot nurse it I have to buy milk for it. Will the society please send some one that I can talk to about my troubles?"

"We hardly have anything in the house, but I would like to have something to eat. I would never ask your help, because I know there are so many to be helped. Oh, please do not let us starve. I only want the very little food a person needs."

"Please once more try to help me and I will be so thankful. Send me some help, please. I didn't send this letter, but now I am forced to tell you that if I do not pay my rent by Monday I will be sent on the street. Please do help me soon. My husband is in prison in Occoquan, Va., and I am all forsaken."

"Another reader writes as follows:

"I would be very grateful to you if you would come and see me. I have six children, and my husband is out working three weeks, and I have nothing for them to eat. I would like to help me, but I don't feel good, so please advise me in writing."

"Another of three, whose oldest daughter is working out of town, says: "Anna is working out of town, saying: 'Anna is coming Tuesday. Would you please send me the milk as none has been well for the last week, and I have only two days' work this week, but hope to get some more as soon as possible."
